The Guide describes the basic federal requirements on which individual state Medicaid programs are based. State programs vary significantly, particularly with regard to eligibility and service design and coverage. Thus, state advocates could benefit from their own state Guide
. State templates are based on the national Guide's organization, and include the headings, text and footnotes with cues and spacing for the insertion of state law, regulations, and case citations.
Click here for the template
.